Printed Matter, Inc., the Zabar's of artists' books, presents its first-annual New York Art Book Fair, which aims to put the glamour and prestige back into an oft-overlooked genre. At a massive space around the corner from Printed Matter in Chelsea, events run all weekend. Artists and critics (Bruce Hainley, Walid Raad, Tom Sachs, John Lurie, Paper Rad, and Josephine Meckseper) are on hand to sign their books. There's a bookmaking workshop, a curated exhibition of artist publications, a mini Sol LeWitt exhibition, and an evening of Iraqi food. For the weekend's finale, PERFORMA sponsors a performance by Clifford Owens of New York Fluxus Score by Benjamin Patterson, and RoseLee Goldberg shares her thoughts. (HGM)
